Honesty, integrity, professional, on time, attention to details, extremely clean and well organized. Not the typical words used to describe a contractor. At DAD's Construction, these words are used everyday by our customers when they are referring DAD's to their friends, family, and neighbors.

Listen to what DAD's customers have to say:

"We love our new home! It was exciting to come home everyday and see the progress your team had made. We had heard a lot of horror stories regarding remodels and we feel very lucky to have chosen such a dependable contractor. You run a tight, clean ship which helped to make this a rewarding experience for us."

"The quality of merchandise and workmanship are unsurpassed. This was not our first experience with home improvement, but it was the best. Now that we've decided to do additional remodeling, there is only one company to consider, DAD'S."

"After speaking to almost seven contractors I began to lose hope. I didn't think that I would find anyone who I could trust to come in my home and make my dreams a reality. To say that I'm impressed is an understatement. I'm really looking forward to future projects with DAD'S."

"Three particular things that impressed us were: the work performed was of high quality; the workmen were professional and completely trustworthy about our home; at the end of each working day the premises were completely clean, so that we never felt we were on a construction site."
